

Short CV for the CMC Vellore MedEd conference

Ulla Blomhøj is a Digital learning Specialist at the Centre for Online and Blended Learning, University of Copenhagen, where she works with educational development across the health sciences. She leads initiatives on digital literacy, effective use of Learning Management Systems (LMS) and the use of generative AI in teaching and assessment.

Ulla is also part of the Partnership for Education of Health Professionals (PEP) funded by the Novo Nordisk Foundation, collaborating with institutions in India and Kenya on capacity building, faculty development, and online and blended learning design in medical education.